LexisNexis (‘the Donor’), a leading legal publisher, has donated a prize to a Juris Doctor (JD) student of The Chinese University of Hong Kong in recognition of the student’s performance in the course ‘Legal Research, Analysis and Writing’ (‘the Course’) of the JD Programme since the academic year 2010/11. Starting from the academic year 2014/15, the regulations governing the award of the prize are detailed below:

1. The prize will be known as “The LexisNexis Prize in Legal Research, Analysis and Writing”.

2. The prize will consist of a copy of ‘Basic Law in Hong Kong’, a book voucher of HK$2,000 for any Hong Kong text titles and a cash prize of HK$1,000.

3. The prize will be awarded to a JD student who has satisfied the following criteria:
   a) Have completed the Course in the year of award with excellent academic results;
   b) Be experienced in using LexisNexis online databases; and
   c) Have strong communication and presentation skills.

4. Each year, the Dean of the Faculty of Law will select a suitable candidate for the prize, and send the particulars of the nominee to the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid for onward transmission to the Donor for information.

5. The Faculty of Law’s decision in respect of the selection of the prize recipient for the award of the prize will be final.

6. The Donor will notify the Faculty of Law prior to the beginning of any academic year if the donation will be discontinued in that academic year.

February 2015