“Studying in the JD programme at CUHK LAW as a second degree has been a very rewarding experience. During my time here, I have developed a deep appreciation for the law and learning through the teachings of some very passionate lecturers. I truly appreciate the faculty members’ efforts in providing an engaging learning environment by integrating real world applicability in their seminars. Overall, the JD programme provides an excellent introduction to many interesting areas in the field of law. I hope to continue to excel in my academics and eventually make a meaningful impact in the legal profession.”

CAI Yiyang
LLM in Energy and Environmental Law

02

“The experience of studying at CUHK LAW is invaluable. The law school has excellent teachers who are always friendly to help you grow. I can't forget how I almost wanted to give up on a presentation last semester because of self-denial, but Professor Zhang gave me sincere encouragement, which made me persist and grow. I will always remember that touching experience. I believe that what I have learnt here is not only knowledge, but also how to become a better version of myself, and have the courage to move on to the next chapter of my life.”

CHAN Chak Leung
LLM in International Economic Law

03

“As an undergraduate without any academic background in law, it was not an easy decision to pursue a part-time Master of Laws degree. But after studying for one and a half semesters, I am so thankful to be back to school and glad that I have chosen an excellent law school. Professors always share insightful ideas on international law topics and cases in the legal workplace; peers actively bring out fruitful discussions in class and inspire each other. It is an enjoyable study journey and more interesting study experience is foreseen in the coming semesters.”

CHAN Christabel Hoi Ching
Juris Doctor

05

“The switch from finance to legal studies is challenging, but the professors' patience and great teaching attitudes have made studying at CUHK LAW a very pleasant journey. I have also gained a group of friends who have now become my support system at CUHK LAW. Above all, I would love to thank my family who has always supported and believed in me.”

CHAN Guan Tsing Lewis
LLM in International Economic Law

07

“The programme is certainly structured in a way which has geared me to take on the challenges that the legal profession has and will be posted. Apart from satisfying my crave for knowledge, the practical tips that the professors imparted are doubtlessly useful and career-enhancing. The intellectually engaging teaching method also trained me to tackle issues at various perspectives. I am confident that one shall thrive upon completion of the programme.”

CHEN Beibei
Juris Doctor

08

“I am grateful to have the opportunity to study at CUHK. It's been a challenging yet fruitful experience.”

CHEN Yixin
Juris Doctor

09

“Balancing long hours of studies with a full-time job has not been easy. Still, I look forward to every lecture as an opportunity to soak up every bit of wisdom the learned professors and fellow students have to offer. The JD journey at CUHK LAW only gets more exciting!”

CHUI Suet Yi
Juris Doctor

10

“Switching from science and engineering background to law is a big jump for me but I enjoy my time studying Juris Doctor at the CUHK! Juris Doctor is an intellectually challenging course with high workload. However, professors and fellow students at the CUHK are very supportive and friendly. I am looking forward to not only growing older but wiser with my classmates and friends within these two years and getting the most out of our time here.”

DONG Xinyue
LLM in Chinese Business Law

11

“Although I have learned some of the required and elective courses during my undergraduate years, the CHUK professors used different methods to explain the same legal issues, encouraging me to think and understand those issues from a different and more critical perspective. Besides, I am grateful to my professors for being so genial in answering my questions, though some questions might not be "so clever", they still answered the questions patiently. The study experience at CUHK is short and precious and I will cherish them in my heart.”

FENG Yixin
Juris Doctor

12

“The two-year experience in CUHK LAW provides me with the best opportunity to explore my interest in law. The study in JD is definitely intensive but also rewarding. I am grateful for the support and resources offered by professors and fellow students. I really look forward to more challenges in the coming legal studies.”

FUNG Hin Chung Eddy
Juris Doctor

14

“My experience at CUHK LAW has been hectic. I am swamped with reading and the examination timetable is unforgiving. It does not help that there is chronic drought at the Graduate Law Centre, but thanks to some student representatives, the recent addition of a water dispenser outside our comprehensive Legal Resource Centre is sure to alleviate the issue. With that out of the way, at CUHK LAW, you will find worldclass teaching, enduring friendships, and antarctic air conditioning that will make any climate activist nervous – so bring a sweater to class.”

GU Tianqi
Juris Doctor

15

“Pursuing a law degree is challenging. But seeing myself making progress every day and getting closer to my dream is exciting. And I feel lucky to have met so many kind teachers and excellent classmates at CUHK LAW. Grateful for all the gentleness I have encountered here!”

HAN Jingyi
LLM in Common Law

16

“Studying at the CUHK LAW was a wonderful experience that gave me a lot of meaning. Every professor in the Common Law Programme where I am enrolled is knowledgeable and enthusiastic, and they patiently respond to every inquiry email with detailed answers. What I found most enjoyable was the camaraderie among the classmates, who were enthusiastic about discussing issues, sharing ideas, and helping each other. I am very honored and grateful to have these professional professors and friendly classmates who have helped me tremendously in my studies.”

HO Yik Lam

HUANG Sijie
LLM in Chinese Business Law

23

“Before enrolling in the programme, I was committed to the securities and finance industry. I joined the Chinese Business Law Programme in order to better understand the civil and commercial law of the PRC. It was a wise choice, as all the teachers showed their expertise and encouraged us to participate actively in group presentations and class discussions. It is a valuable experience for me to make many like-minded friends and learn about the law and expertise in the financial field.”

HUANG Weiliang

“At CUHK LAW, I had an enriching learning experience with Professors Zhang Hao, Anatole Boute, and Hu Shixue. They were approachable and generous in sharing their knowledge. The professors explained the course material thoroughly and provided additional reading material. “Trained as a medical professional, it was not easy to step into a completely different discipline of study. Doing a part-time is another challenge, for most of us I believe, as the workload has never been light. However, I eventually noticed that all these hard works have not only brought me academic excellence, but also a new perspective seeing the law being more than just legal principles and statutes - law is really about logical thinking and reasonings. Being able to appreciate such will surely benefit your work and other areas of life.”

KWOK Fung Ying
LLM in International Economic Law

28

“I am very honored to receive the LLM Scholarships for Academic Excellence! Studying in CUHK LLM has been nothing short of exceptional for me. The Programme provides me an excellent opportunity to gain a broad understanding of international law. Professors are knowledgeable and experienced, and willing to share students with rigorous legal analysis and practical insights. I highly recommend this programme to anyone who is looking to deepen their understanding of international law and broaden their horizons.”

KWOK Hiu Tung Hilton

“Juggling between work and studies hasn’t always been easy for part-time students. However, I am thankful for our CUHK LAW professors’ patience and dedication, as well as my study groupmates’ endless support. I always believe that a law degree does not only give us the knowledge to become a successful legal practitioner, but also equips us with the intellectual strength for any profession. Studying law trains us to think critically, communicate clearly, and manage time effectively. I definitely have no regrets making this decision to pursue part-time JD studies with CUHK.”

KWOK Shuk Ching
Juris Doctor

30

“Studying law is never easy. Yet, CUHK LAW makes the journey less tough! Thanks for the continuous support from professors and my classmates, I have been enjoying the ride for 3 years! Quitting a stable job to pursue full-time study in law is a big step out of my comfort zone, thanks to my parents for being my safe harbour as always. Still, a long way to go!”

LAM Wing Yee
Juris Doctor

35

“Reading law is challenging yet interesting - I gained excitement from daily new discoveries in lessons that motivate me to strive for excellence. With the tremendous support from the faculty and the positive learning atmosphere, I am confident that the study experience at CUHK LAW will make me a good lawyer in the future.”

LAN Yuxuan
LLM in Chinese Business Law

36

“It’s important to fully understand what do you want to achieve when learning the exact course. For instance, the main articles, structure in the Chinese contract law and the cases that help you to understand the relevant copyright definitions, terms in the Chinese intellectual property law. Also, thanks to CUHK professor, they really guide me a lot!”

LAU See Heng
LLM in Chinese Business Law

37

“With just over a month to go, my two years of part-time study in my first law programme is coming to an end. Studying an LLM in Chinese Business Law at CUHK has been a rewarding experience for me.

Since I had not studied law systematically before being admitted to this LLM programme, let alone Chinese law, quite a few courses were completely new to me. Through lectures and various types of assessments, these courses have comprehensively helped me combine my existing knowledge with legal perspectives and apply my after-work learning to my daily work.”

LAU Tak Kwun
Juris Doctor

38

“It is my great honour to receive the JD Silver Scholarship this year. Many thanks to CUHK LAW for awarding me and providing quality education to us. I had no legal background prior to entering CUHK LAW. Luckily, the Faculty has provided a wide range of support to new students for overcoming difficulties, including the orientation activities, library services and online resources, etc. More importantly, our teachers are not only experts in their subjects, but also good helpers to the new learners. They are all very patient in answering our questions, so as to make sure we really understand.”

LE Ngoc Phu
LLM in Legal History
39

“It has been only six months since I was part of the University, but I have absorbed valuable things from the University's radical, modern, and practical curricula.

I chose positive values you can see, feel, and gain at university. First, I have opportunities to access knowledge with the support of excellent infrastructure and learning resources, high-qualified lecturers, and reliable staff. The second value is the open-minded, dynamic, sharing, and cooperative learning environment which is the orientation to self-improvement and research.”

LEE Shing Hei
LLM in Common Law

I have thoroughly enjoyed the rigorous and intellectually stimulating learning experience in the first semester, and am definitely looking forward to the journey ahead.”

LEI Siyu

As a newcomer to HK, CUHK LAW is where I temporarily escape from the blatant city and focus purely on appreciating the beauty of law. Studying law at CUHK is challenging but exciting. I learned more than professional skills and knowledge from those dedicated professors and fascinating courses at CUHK. I will continue to try my 120% in the future!”

I am grateful that my professors delivered excellent courses with highly relevant study materials, and the classes were arranged in a very interactive and intriguing way. This definitely expedites my learning process as I am able to take in lots of legal principles and theories during classes. I also appreciate how the knowledge can be applied practically in my workspace, the skillsets I picked up are critical for me in reviewing contracts, drafting quotations, or signing legal documents.”

"I feel very fortunate to have been a student of Professor Hall. He really inspired me to love the law, especially the common law, for itself. I used to see law school as a fancier vocational training school, but law school can provide so much more than that. I realised the study of law doesn't always have to be a means to an end, but it could be an end in itself."

LIAO Lok Sun Constance
Juris Doctor

51

"From a young age, we are often designated as being either inclined to the sciences or the humanities. Falling under the sciences, I was convinced that medicine was the perfect fit for me. My time at CUHK LAW has shown me that our inclinations are not set in stone. Possessing a growth mindset is the most important asset to have as, after all, learning is a lifelong journey! A big shout-out to the amazing professors. I have encountered so far as their passionate teaching is one of my greatest motivators. Astra inclinans, sed non obligans."

LIN Ruochen

"Studying law at CUHK has been an incredible experience. Not only have the courses broadened my horizon of the law in trade, investment, cross-border litigation, shipping and merger control, but I've also made many friends from diverse backgrounds in class and we enjoyed barbecue together after class. The teachers are incredibly knowledgeable, and their guidance has been instrumental in helping me secure an internship at an international arbitration center in second term. The knowledge and skills I'm gaining through these courses will be invaluable in my future career."

Second, turn to professors whenever you have problems with the courses. Professors especially Prof. Zhang and Prof. Boute are quite generous with time and patience and I am very grateful for that.

“It should be pointed out at first that I feel really fortunate to be enrolled in CUHK LAW. Otherwise, I would not have been able to leisurely read the distributed material and organize my notes, while my friends were struggling with assignments and presentations at other schools. With regard to sharing learning experiences, I would say that preview is most important. Preview immediately revealed what I failed to understand, so that I could take lessons in a focused manner. At the same time, preview made it easier to keep up with the professors' pace of the lecture.”

“I am honored to be a part of the CBL Programme at the Chinese University of Hong Kong. My study at CUHK LAW has brought me many valuable gains. Every teacher here is very professional and passionate, always encouraging students in class.

The two most important things I have gained are the courage to step out of my comfort zone and the ability to think critically. Life is a wilderness rather than an orbit, and I hope I can keep growing in the future.”

“Studying at CUHK LAW has been a somewhat grueling but rewarding experience for me. I usually read the readings on the Blackboard before class, and I try to stay focused in class. Although I may not know the exact answer to every question the professor asks in class, I listen carefully to what the other students say. After class, I would collate the notes I had taken in class, assimilate them into my own ideas and then apply them to my essay writing.”

“It was a very challenging year due to COVID. Classes were still held on Zoom at that time and we lost many great opportunities to network with the professors and other classmates. However, I also received a lot of help from the University. The technology team consistently provided the best supporting services. Most of the cases and reference materials were accessible on e-databases. Online exams were provided for the purpose of social distancing. It was difficult but also memorable. Fortunately everything is back to normal now.”

“Studying at CUHK LAW has been a challenging but rewarding experience. The legal fundamentals taught in the first year eased my transition into law school and ensured that I was properly equipped to tackle harder legal concepts. As part of my studies, I participated in a number of moots, including Jessup; these allowed me to develop and apply legal research and writing skills, which have been academically and professionally indispensable. I have also been exposed to a variety of different cultures and people, allowing me to broaden my horizons, develop an open mind, and become a more globally-aware citizen.”

“You’d think law school should've equipped me for this. But to contain four-year worth of laughters and tears in 100 words? How could you? Instead, I'll tell you what CUHK LAW is not. It's not as intimidating as the image we survivors try to paint; but it's surely not for the faint of the heart. It's not as unbridled as artsy majors (follow IRAC!); but some creativity is necessary to have logic always be on your side. To be fair, it's not necessarily an experience I'd wish to relive; but it's for sure not something I regret nor hope to forget, ever.”

“I am immensely grateful for the plethora of extracurricular experiences CUHK offers. Every student is within reach to opportunities that allow them to hone their skills learnt in class, be it oral advocacy or legal writing. I have understood during my time with CUHK LAW that venturing out has always been a daring move, but without such courage one can never reach one's full potentials. It is an expedition, and it is up to you to decide which path to take. I believe I have made good use of my time here, for there is an abundance of good memories to look back to. I am also thankful for all the timely wisdom and kind support my professors and my fellows have showered me with, shaping me in ways that are worthwhile in this journey.”
