Fraud Liability of Foreign Issuers under the US Securities Law

by

Prof. Donald Langevoort

Professor of Law, Georgetown University Law Center

23rd May 2011, 5:30 -6:30 p.m.

In the U.S. Supreme Court's 2010 decision, Morrison v. National Australia Bank Ltd., the Court sharply limited the ability of private plaintiffs and the SEC to pursue securities fraud involving transactions that take place outside the U.S. The Dodd-Frank Act of 2010 sought to overturn Morrison as it applies to the SEC, but simply directed the SEC to study the question of the appropriate policy for private litigation. Professor Langevoort's lecture will discuss this issue, the supposed legislative "fix", and the policy issues associated with developing a fair and coherent approach to who can be sued for fraud in U.S. courts.
